Online Journal Tables of Contents Debut in MCEER IS News

For some time now, the online version of the MCEER Information Service (IS) News has linked to online versions of the tables of contents of journals, trade publications, and newsletters pertaining to earthquakes, earthquake engineering, and hazard mitigation.

Beginning with the September online issue, the News is now including (rather than linking to) online tables of contents of recent journals as well. These online tables of contents are full-size pages and are searchable. They can be accessed on our web site at <http://mceer.buffalo.edu/news/journals.asp>.

A selected core list of journal titles are included online. Reader comments are invited regarding other titles in the paper version that could be added online. Please e-mail the Information Service with suggestions at mceeris@acsu.buffalo.edu. ❖
