MCEER welcomed Ms. Barbara McManus to the staff in December as a senior programmer/analyst. Ms. McManus is responsible for overseeing the development of the Center’s web site and streamlining of MCEER’s computing procedures. She was previously a software training specialist at the University at Buffalo’s microcomputer center and has been an automation consultant for over ten years.

She has a Bachelor of Professional Studies-Business, Management and Economics, and is currently working toward earning her Masters degree in the same field. She has Windows NT 4.0 server Microsoft certification, and is a curriculum advisor for the computer science department at Niagara County Community College.
